The silliest law we know of is the Wild Fruit Act in Newfoundland.

Open and close seasons for various wild berries are provided by the act, and this year when the blueberry open season arrived, it was found that the berries had long since ripened and dropped from the bushes to rot.

The act even prohibits a child from picking and eating a blueberry in the close season, and finger print experts watch for the tiny stained fingers of innocent tots.

JAMES RING- DIES FROM ACCIDENT

Crashing down one storey onto a concrete sidewalk at Lethbridge, James A. Ringland, well known former resident of Macleod and Blairmore, died in the Galt hospital last Saturday afternoon from skull fracture and other injuries.

Death stalked on the scaffolding at the home of Clarence Angus, at 714
Seventh Avenue south, where Mr.
Ringland was working at stuccoing, when the woodwork gave way and he was precipitated to the sidewalk, landing on his head. He was rendered immediately unconscious and never regained consciousness.

James Angus Ringland, aged 68, was born in Lindsay, Ontario, on April 1st, 1866. He was a stonemason by trade and left the east in 1900, settling in Killarney, Manitoba. Two years later he moved to Vancouver, and in 1913 took up residence in Macleod.
He has since resided in Southern Alberta, and was well known in sport circles. He was ice maker and rink manager here since 1924, and from 1919 to 1924 acted in the same capacity at Coleman. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marion Hamilton Ringland, and three children, James Kenneth, Dora Jean and Armina Louise, residing in Lethbridge; also the following brothers and sisters: Ernest and John W. Ringland, Macleod; George, Vancouver; William, Winnipeg;
Robert, Killarney, Manitoba;
Thomas, Lindsay, Ontario; Mrs.
James McMillan, Dundalk, Ontario,
and Mrs. William Spicer, of Vancouver.

The remains were laid to rest at Macleod on Tuesday afternoon.

Among the floral tributes was a beautiful wreath from the Blairmore Arena Company.

The veteran seal killer, Capt. Abraham Kean, O.B.E., recently acted in a new role, when, on board the S.S.
Kyle, on the Northern Labrador coast, he tried an Eskimo, charged with theft, convicted and sentenced him to two months imprisonment with hard labor.

manifested in the forthcoming flower show, the seventeenth to be held at Bellevue under the auspices of the Bellevue and District Horticultural, Industrial and Poultry Society, on

In spite of the very dry season, an unusually fine display of flowers, vegetables, fruits, etc., is looked forward to, coupled with exhibits of school art, etc.

In addition to the exhibition, there will be the usual programme of field sports and a grand dance in the Odd-fellows' hall at night.

Complete copies of programme and prizes offered for sports and exhibition will be distributed at the grounds

INSTITUTE FOR BLIND EXHIBIT AT CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION

The talking book, one of the latest sensations in the world of the blind, is now being demonstrated at the exhibit of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in the Electrical and Engineering Building at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto.

This year, for the first time, all the activities in which blind persons are engaged are being carried out on the premises, and every phase of the Institute's Canada-wide programme is included.

The National Library of the Institute, which contains over 17,500 volumes is conducting a booth where Braille books are on view, and a Braille typewriter operated. The current issue of the monthly Braille magazine "The Courier" sent out by the National Library to all parts of Canada, is being produced, showing the process of Braille printing, followed by the stitching of leaves together.

Thirty-one blind persons are present, some demonstrating home handicrafts, others turning out attractive dresses and aprons on one of the power driven machines used in the garment factories of the Institute located in Toronto and Winnipeg.

Rubber door mats made from old automobile tires are being manufactured in the booth representing the Western Division of the Institute (British Columbia and Alberta) and netting is one of the occupations found in the booth of the Newfoundland Division. In between these two extremities comes the Central Western Division (Saskatchewan and Manitoba) where a blind man is caning chairs, next a blind girl from the Quebec Division typing letters on a standard typewriter, taking her dictation from the dictaphone, and a blind man in the Maritime Division booth (New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island) demonstrating the manufacture of willow signal cones, used by the Dominion

POPULAR BUSINESS' MAN MARRIES

The marriage took place at the United Church, at 10 o'clock on Saturday night, of Mr. Floyd Hottle, local manager for Safeways Limited, and Dora's Williams Ennis, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J.
Williams. Rev. A. E. Larke officiated.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where luncheon was served to a large number of invited guests. The young couple joined the midnight train for Vancouver, where the honeymoon will be spent. Upon their return, they will make their home in West Blairmore.

Among natives of this district, who have resided in other parts for some years, and who said "hello" here during the week, were Mr. J. Nicol and E. Jolly. Both formerly resided in Frank.

HAYSOM - APPONEN

The marriage of Idris J. Haysom, proprietor of the Bellevue Pharmacy and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haysom, of Coleman, to Miss Lempi, second daughter of Mr. K. Apponen, also of Coleman, took place on Sunday last at the home of the bride's father, Rev. A. E. Larke, of Blairmore, officiating. The young couple have taken up residence in Bellevue.

CANADIAN HOMING UNION

In the recent pigeon flying contest of the Blairmore branch of the Canadian Homing Union, from Wetaskiw to Blairmore, the winners were as follows: Distance (air line) 242 miles. John Horket, first, 7 hours and fifty minutes, yards per minute 906.25; Tony Zurak, second, 8 hours, yards per minute 887.260.480; D. A.
Howe, third, 9 hours and five minutes, yards per minute 781.50. All 1934 birds.

Miss Berrie Parsmore is down from Cranbrook on a visit to her parents.

For ten years, a freak oil well near Linar, Oklahoma, has produced almost pure vaseline at an average rate of 350 barrels daily. It is thought to be the only well of its kind in the world and has made its owner a fortune.

The well is 3170 feet deep. All other wells drilled in the neighborhood have turned out to be "bustlers."

When it reaches the surface, the vaseline is a dark green, but turns to a brilliant yellow when struck by outside air.

Auxiliary to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind are conducting a special branch of their Blind Craft Shop and have also an Information Booth most attractively furnished with wicker chairs, dark ferns in fern potholders and flower baskets, all cleverly fashioned by the hands of blind workers. The furnishings of this booth are carried out in the cream, black and red of the entire Exhibit.

If you are visiting the Exhibition this year you shouldn't miss this intensely interesting and enlightening display. Remember the location, Electrical and Engineering Building, near the Prince's Gate.

Now It Could Be Done

Probably it is as direct reaction to the appalling state of irritant unrest which keeps international nerves continually on edge that more is being written and heard now of peace and its perpetuation than was heard or written during the great fiasco which terminated in the framing of the Treaty of Versailles.

The Anglo-Saxon world, at least, has come to the conclusion that a treaty inspired by revenge and nurtured by fear is altogether too provocative an instrument to produce anything more than a mere armistice or truce. That section of the world now is convinced that the Christian virtues of humility and fraternity could and would provide a better background for an abiding peace featuring the essential conditions of harmony and mutual co-operation.

It is hard to concede that mankind is devoid of capacity to bring about this condition or state. In fact, when one scans the war efforts of the belligerent nations between 1914 and 1918, one is forced to conclude that only the will is lacking. Were the efforts made then to destroy life and property exerted now to preserve life and property, world peace quickly would be achieved. There is no doubt of it.

If doubts be cherished, they would quickly be dispelled by reference to the recently published "War Memoirs" of David Lloyd George. First as Britain's Minister of Munitions then as her premier, Mr. Lloyd George was primarily responsible for organizing the country's human and industrial resources for victory. How far-reaching, how extensive that organization was, is vividly revealed in the pages of his narrative. All essential industries were brought within the compass of his authority. All were made to contribute their full quota to the national effort. That gigantic organization was established for the dual purpose of building up the allied, and of breaking down the enemy, capacity to endure. The achievement shows conclusively what can be done by organization on the grand scale.

Considering the efficacy of war-time organization and effort, surely it is not foolhardy to suggest that, were all the major nations of the world to unite in organizing in the cause of peace, lasting and prosperous peace would ensue. And were the same efforts applied to solving the economic problems of the peoples of the world unquestionably they, too, would yield.

It is a strange commentary on civilization and human progress that sacrifices to win a war should be described as "heroic" and, as such, borne with determination and a grin, while sacrifices to win a peace should be branded as humiliating and intolerable. It is strange, too, that war could be financed with no insuperable difficulty, while finances required in an economic depression to keep innocent people from starvation, present apparently insurmountable obstacles to the governments concerned.

Nicholas Murray Butler, noted American liberal, recently translated the financial cost of the world war into graphic and startling terms. It cost 400 billion dollars. "With that money," he says, "we could have built a $2,500 house, furnished it with $1,000 worth of furniture, placed it on five acres of land worth $100 an acre, and given this home to each and every family in the United States, Canada, Australia, England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, France, Belgium, Germany and Russia. We could have given to each family of 20,000 inhabitants and over in each country named, a five million dollar library and a ten million dollar university. Out of what was left we could have set aside a sum at five per cent. that would provide a $1,000 yearly salary for 125,000 teachers, and a like salary for another army of 125,000 nurses."

Four hundred billion dollars was expended in a war which took 30,000,000 lives. Surely, a similar amount expended in a peace, would save a similar number from sufferings attendant upon economic depression.

Recover Sunken Gold

Five Million Dollars Removed From

Field Of Steamer Laurentic
Bullion valued at $5,000,000 ($5,000,000), was removed by a private salvage firm from the sunken steamer Laurentic, which went to the bottom with a German torpedo in 1917, the London Mail says.

Admiralty divers salvaged $5,000,000 between 1918 and 1924 and abandoned the remaining $1,000,000 because the ship had been smashed and buried in the sand.

Salvage operations on the steamship Laurentic, a 15,000-ton White Star liner which lay in 120 feet of water, are known to be among the most difficult ever attempted.

British navy divers clad in rubber suits made more than 5,000 dives to recover $5,000,000 worth of bullion.

The Laurentic was sunk off the mouth of Lough Swilly in Northern Ireland, in a position exposed to westerly and northwesterly gales.

Belongs To England

The origin of the tune "God Save the King," has always been a matter of argument, but most authorities agree on one point, that it is English. It was "adopted" by the Prussians, and with appropriate verses became the Prussian national anthem. So it is quite erroneous to say that it "belonged" to Germany, in the sense that it was borrowed from them.

Mail By Rocket

German Invention May Shoot Letters

From Dover To Calais
A rocket mail service may be established between Dover, England, and Calais, France. The enterprise would employ the "Zucker" aluminum rocket, a German invention which was exhibited at the International Air Post Exposition in London the first part of May.

It is estimated that by means of the rocket service letters may be shot across the English Channel, a distance of 21 miles, in one minute.

It is reported locally that the inventor, after demonstrating the practicality of such a service, intends to approach the British and French governments with a view to arranging for a regular rocket mail service, a British syndicate being formed for the purpose. Under the proposed scheme, Calais would be the receiving and dispatching point for the continent.

Valuable Copper Salvaged

Five hundred tons of copper, valued at over $50,000, were recovered from the sunken Spectator off Kingsdale, Irish Free State, by the Italian salvage ship Albatross in the first 14 days of operation. The Albatross is believed to be directly over the spot where the Lusitania was sunk by a torpedo during the World War. The Lusitania contains over $5,000,000 in gold bullion.

Article Deals With African Desert

News of the World, London, says: "In an interesting article in the National Geographic Magazine it is stated that it is not only in this country that motor-buses are cursed, but that Arab camels are loath in protest and abuse of the motor, which fling choking clouds of dust all over the pilgrims."

"Away, thou son of a dog! By Allah! What an invention of the devil! May your bones break and be burnt to cinders by the sun!"

"But in another few years the poor camels may have still more cause to protest, for the road along which the pilgrims travel will probably be the route of the proposed Jeddah-Mecca railway."

"The same authority says that much of the elephant lore that is widely accepted is fabulous. The elephant has a wonderful memory, but the beast does not often forget a wrong. If elephants avenged every beating there would be a very high mortality among elephant trainers and attendants."

"If the trainer or keeper fears the animal, and does not at once subdue it with force, then that particular elephant will continue to intimidate him, and he may eventually be killed. If, however, he subdues it at once by force, it will then usually submit to his authority ever afterwards."

"It is often said that African elephants cannot be trained, and therefore are seldom seen in circuses or zoos. The African elephant is as easily trained as the Indian."

"The great Jumbo was taught to carry children on his back in the London Zoo, and was a docile and safe elephant. The Belgians at Apt. one of their stations in the Congo, are using trained African elephants to plough fields and to pile and carry logs and lumber."

Alberta Teachers

Considerable Versatility Is Demanded

By School Boards
Some Alberta school boards apparently demand considerable versatility of talents in their school teachers. This was revealed at Edmonton as the hearing of appeals for alleged wrongful dismissal of teachers continuing as a board of reference.

A young woman teaching in the Willingdon district claimed she had been dismissed because she could not play the piano.

Another board, through its chairman, stated that the teacher had been dismissed because she was too high strung and was continually bawling the pupils on the head.

French-Canadians Do Not Want Cars On Mount Royal

The only city in the Dominion which boasts a mountain in its midst is in the middle of a small war about the mountain.

Mount Royal, the rearing landmark from which the metropolis of Canada derives its name, is the bone of contention in an argument as to whether automobiles shall be allowed for the first time in history to scale its summit.

The mountain broke into the headlines when Ald. J. Allan Bray ventured the suggestion motorists be permitted to wind their way upward to its wooded dells and broad expanses of green overlooking the modern city. An immediate storm of protest broke and thousands of citizens voiced their determination to preserve the primitive natural charm of Montreal's namesake for future generations to enjoy.

One of the few fortresses yet remaining against the advance of the automobile age, Mount Royal has continued to share its picturesque quaintness with Montreal's motoring avengers. To date, only pedestrians, bicyclists and the horse-drawn Victoria, which are heritages of another age in Montreal, are allowed on the mountain and the French-Canadians, who regard the great rock as the rich tradition of their land, declare the hooking of the automobile horns will never be allowed to break its spell.

Thousands Of German Professors

Seek Work In Foreign Countries
Some 7,500 academic and professional refugees from Nazi Germany are now attempting to create a new existence for themselves in foreign countries, the New York Emergency Committee in Aid of Displaced German Scholars reveals. It is declared that "of all classes of people, the National-Socialist revolution in Germany, the academic and the professionals have suffered the most."

A high commission for refugees coming from Germany is co-ordinating the work in various countries. Sixty German scholars have been placed in American institutions of higher learning. More than 1,300 German scholars have been displaced, of whom 800 to 700 have or will shortly emigrate. Between 5,500 to 5,500 professional people have left Germany and 1,500 to 1,600 of the 7,000 German university students forced to quit their studies have sought refuge outside Germany.

Gigantic Cunard White Star Liner

Some Startling Facts About The New Queen Of The Seas

The name of the new Cunard White Star superliner, the Queen Mary, No. 534 will be divulged 24 hours before the hull slips down the ways at Clydebank, Scotland, Queen Mary, attended by King George V., will launch the new steamer. The ship will be at least 1,018 feet long and weigh 73,000 or more gross tons. She will cross the Atlantic from England and France in four days. The cost of the superliner has been estimated at $30,000,000. The vessel will have 11 decks, one the first, class promenade being 750 feet long, just 3 feet less than the entire length of the Mauretania. She will be five times the size of the original Cunard liner, the Britannia. The height to the mainmast will be 250 feet. The rudder will weigh 163 tons. The Atlantic's is but half this weight. The steel plates range from 8 feet in length to 30 feet, and weigh from 200 to 8,000 pounds.

There will be 2,000 portholes and windows, the panes of glass ranging from 12 to 18 inches in diameter to large oval panes two feet in height. The anchor cables, wire hawsers and ropes for the ship will be more than four miles in length. The anchors, of special design, will be the world's largest on any ship. The ship will be driven by single-reduction geared turbines supplied with steam from high-pressure water-tube boilers. There will be four screw propellers, each driven by an independent set of machinery. The driving machinery will be placed in two separate engine rooms. Four turbo-generators will supply power to the auxiliary machines in the engine room.

There will be 257,000 turbine blades, ranging in length from two to 18 inches and geared to the thousands of parts of an inch. The Clyde River has been deepened to 18 feet to enable the launching at a cost of $400,000. The new superliner is being built in the yards of John Brown & Co. Ltd., where the Aquitania was built.

There will be three funnels. The first funnel will be more than 70 feet in height, the other two lower. This arrangement will keep the decks and ventilators clear of funnel gases. The hull of the first Cunard liner, the Britannia, could be passed through any one of the funnels of the new ship. The ship will contain 50 miles of plumbing pipes. The electric lighting system is sufficient to service a city of more than 150,000 inhabitants, such as Quebec, Hamilton or Ottawa. Steam will be generated in 27 enormous boilers. The number of turbines will be 10, and auxiliary condensers will approximate 60,000. The electrical wires used would reach from Halifax to Vancouver and then 400 miles out into the Pacific ocean. The giant's stacks will be thirty feet in diameter, exceeding the Holland Tube, between New York and Jersey City, by six inches. From the keel to the top of the foremost funnel is the same height of an 18-story building. The engines of the 534 will generate 200,000 horsepower—enough to tow Staten Island across the Atlantic. The make-up of the ship will require 35,000 tons of steel. The catering department will contain 200,000 pieces of crockery. Ten miles of carpets will be used in covering the ship's floors. Tableware, including knives, forks, spoons, etc., will total 100,000. The ship's decorations will cost $2,500,000. Her steadiness will be assured by a million-dollar gyroscopic device weighing 300 tons. This device will keep the ship steady in the roughest seas. The captain's bridge will be 100 feet above the water line. The steamer's ventilators will be large enough to swallow a subway car. The sun deck will contain shady garden lounges, palm courts and swimming pools, giving a tropical aspect to the surroundings during all the seasons. The steamer will be insured for approximately $7,000,000.

Commemorate Early Flight

Aeroplanes Kept In Air From Dawn To Dusk At Edmonton

The twenty-fifth anniversary of flying in Canada, was the first to be commemorated at Edmonton, recently when some 15 members of the Edmonton and Northern Alberta Aero Club kept an aeroplane aloft for 15 hours, 15 minutes in "a dawn-to-dusk" flight.

In common with other flying clubs across the Dominion, the flights were carried out, each machine staying in the air for shifts of one hour, to be replaced by another before the first had touched the ground.

Pilot C. North Sawie, hopping off at 5:30 a.m., was the first to commence the flight, while Pilot Sven Jensen was the last to land when he brought his machine down at 6:35 p.m. after a black rain cloud and thunder made the sky too black to continue.

Miss Margaret Fane was the only woman pilot to take part in the commemoration of the flight made by "Cussey" Baldwin, who hopped off in his crudely-made "Silver Hawk" 25 years ago, August 16, in Nova Scotia.

London's Newest Building

Has Hotel Service And Every Accommodation For Tenants

"Flatlet" is the newly coined word to describe a $10,000,000 block of flats which is being completed in London. The name is intended to describe flats having hotel service. There will be 50 flats, accommodating 1,200 people. As far as possible every daily want of the tenants—food, clothing or service—will be available within the building. A shopping expedition of the flat-dwellers will be merely a trip to the ground floor, and there will be restaurants, dining rooms, barber shops and beauty parlors. A novel feature will be a terrace, 16 feet wide, surrounding the top floor of the building. It resembles a luncheon promenade and will be available for sun-bathing and exercise.

EXPORT OF HAY AND STRAW IS UNDER LICENSE

Ottawa.—Confronted with a serious shortage of fodder crops in sections of Canada, the government has utilized powers conferred by the new Marketing Act to license the export of hay and straw. An order-in-council passed under the act required exporters of either hay or straw to obtain licenses for shipments abroad. It also makes transportation companies see that shipments outside Canada are covered by such licenses.

A statement issued from the prime minister's office explained that drought and heat had so affected the Canadian hay and clover crops in sections of Canada that the government felt that suitable cattle feed was being lost. Both Canada and the United States had found it necessary to take steps to conserve cattle feed. Where surplus areas in Canada were adjacent to deficit areas in the United States, and vice versa, it was intimated, arrangements would be reached for moving feed across the line.

A license will be required for each export shipment, and it may be required by the governor-in-council if the licensee fails to comply with any of the terms or conditions stipulated.

"The prolonged drought and heat that have afflicted large areas in Canada and the United States have compelled the two governments to take immediate action to conserve the acute lack of suitable cattle feed that is now apparent and to prevent speculators from exploiting the consumers and producers of fodder crops," the statement says. "The Canadian hay and clover crop, which in the four years 1929-30 averaged over 16,000,000 tons, had fallen to 11,433,000 in 1933; and, for the current year, it is estimated at 9,884,000 tons. This decline in total production is, of course, unequally distributed across the country, being most pronounced in Saskatchewan, and southern Alberta.

"It is the policy of the government to see that such local surpluses of fodder crops as exist in accessible parts of Canada are made available in the first instance for the relief of conditions in the deficit areas. The action that has been taken under the Marketing Act is designed to facilitate this policy by regulating, under license, exports of these essential feed stuffs."

Atlantic Air Service

Talk Of Plans To Hook Up Canada With Croydon

London.—The Daily Herald, Labor newspaper, hints that the visit of Clark Howell, chairman of the federal aviation commission of the United States, to London, was in the interest of establishing a North Atlantic service.

"Possibility that a North Atlantic service run jointly by Imperial Airways and Pan-American Airways is brought nearer by the arrival in London of Clark Howell," the paper wrote.

"Planes would land in Canada and service would then continue right through the United States," it explained, adding that Croydon would be the English terminal.

Increase French Fleet

More Ships To Protect Coast Of France From North Sea Attacks

Cherbourg, France.—Reinforcement of the French fleet in the English channel to plug up weaknesses brought to light by naval manoeuvres last May is in progress under orders of Francois Pietri, minister of the navy.

Two battleships, the Provence and the Bretagne, which are being modernized at shipyards in Brest, will be kept at that port. They will be added to the fleet known as the second squadron, the duty of which is to protect the coast of France from attack from the North Sea.

Alert Police Force

Winnipeg.—"The best prevention against the kidnapper is an alert police force with a good record for detection of crime," said Sidney E. Smith, president of the University of Manitoba and nationally known legal authority, discussing methods of combating kidnapping.

Completing Highway

Calgary.—Alberta will spend $300,000 to complete the trans-Canada highway between Banff, Alta., and the Saskatchewan border giving work to many of the unemployed men now on relief in cities and towns of the province.

Fair Wage Act

R.C. Boys Dismissed When Minimum Wage Law Becomes Effective

Victoria.—Many British Columbia youths aged 20 and 21 and with several years' experience in their work have received only $5 or $6 per week but have now been discharged by their employers because of the province's new mercantile minimum wage of $12.75 per week for such labor.

Hon. George S. Pearson, minister of labor, reported.

The minister publicly requested all youths so discharged to communicate with him and he said he had received reports from more than 60. In turn, he has written to the firms involved and has asked them to reconsider the dismissals, stating that they are big enough to take part in reconstruction of the wage system in the mercantile industry without hurting themselves.

"This is a thing which needs co-operative effort," he said.

"We have no desire to prevent any firm from doing business and we intend to let everybody in the market place be changed so as to provide for a larger main span. This action was taken after a sub-committee of the cabinet listened to views of opposing interests in the matter of the width and height of the main span of the proposed bridge.

Twenty per cent of the 30 youths who submitted their cases were with one firm, the minister said.

Want Regulations Altered

Cattle Shippers Cannot Afford Stop-over On Bay Region

Prince Albert.—Immediate alteration in regulations that at present interrupt the direct shipment of cattle to Churchill was urged here by leading livestock producers of Saskatchewan and Alberta.

W. E. Cull, manager, of the Saskatchewan Livestock Pool, and Jack Byers, manager of Western Stock Growers, Calgary, were emphatic in declaring Churchill would suffer unless arrangements which force a stop-over at Hudson Bay Junction for feeding are changed.

"Shippers cannot afford to stop over on a run of only 700 miles," Mr. Cull stated. Direct runs of 40 hours were not uncommon in the overland journey from Calgary to Montreal, he said, and travelling time to the northern port was only 38 hours, including a stop of more than an hour at Melfort.

"They were enthusiastic over the possibilities of the port about regulations be changed, and declined treatment at the hands of officials was also of the best."

Regulate Hay Exports

Shortage Of Hay And Straw In West May Make This Necessary

Ottawa.—Because of the shortage of hay and straw in many parts of Canada, particularly in the West, the government will take steps to regulate exports by license, it was learned here unofficially.

The situation in the prairie provinces, and in the Maritimes to a lesser extent, is pressing, according to representations to the government. Regulation of these exports by licensing would be to protect the farmers from speculators.

Burnt-out areas in the United States are badly in need of hay and that country contemplates taking of the $5 a ton duty for the entry of Canadian hay.

Canada And Naval Defence

Should Defend Pacific Coast With Own Navy

Montreal.—"Canada should defend the Pacific coast with her own navy and let the British navy police the Atlantic," according to the suggestion of Sir Reginald Yorke Tyndall, admiral of the British fleet, who sailed aboard the liner Montcalm.

"Perhaps we cannot expect you to protect both coasts," said the admiral, "but you might protect in Brest with your own navy. You could leave the Atlantic coast for us to look after, while perhaps you could look after the Pacific yourselves."

Precious Metal Salvaged

Silver From Sunken Steamer Egypt Taken To England

London.—Carrying gold and silver bars worth nearly $1,000,000, the Italian salvage vessel Artiglio tied up in Plymouth.

The precious metal is part of the cargo of the steamer Egypt, sunk off Unbat 14 years ago while carrying $5,000,000 in bullion. Four millions were recovered during the past two years, but this year the work was much more difficult as the vessel had settled deep into the ocean bed.

The cargo brought in by the Artiglio was obtained after two months of hard work.

Road To Jasper

Work On Edmonton To Jasper Highway To Be Started Soon

Edmonton.—Completion of graveling the Edmonton-Jasper highway by the provincial government will start at an early date and operations will commence on the stretches of the road immediately east of Jasper national park boundaries and west of Edson, Hon. J. J. MacLellan, minister of public works, reported on his return from an inspection trip over the highway. When completed this will give an all-weather road between Edmonton and Jasper. Work is being undertaken following an announcement of a federal loan of $125,000 for the purpose.

Returned For Revision

Plans For Proposed Bridge At Vancouver Sent Back

Ottawa.—Plans for the proposed first narrow bridge at the entrance of Vancouver harbor have been sent back to the designers with a request the location of certain piers be changed so as to provide for a larger main span. This action was taken after a sub-committee of the cabinet listened to views of opposing interests in the matter of the width and height of the main span of the proposed bridge.

RELIEF COSTS ARE SAID TO BE ON THE DECLINE

Montreal.—The number of people in Canada receiving direct relief at the end of July showed a considerable decline, the total being 990,098, says the Gazette in a special despatch from its Ottawa correspondent.

The despatch continues: "This total was divided amongst the nine provinces as follows: Ontario, 300,000; Quebec, 285,000; Saskatchewan, 180,260; British Columbia, 88,100; Manitoba, 56,800; Alberta, 47,850; Nova Scotia, 23,100; New Brunswick, 9,100; Prince Edward Island, 388."

Important decreases in the number on relief were shown by the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, and Manitoba, while Saskatchewan, due to the desperate conditions created by the prolonged drought, showed an increase. The decline in British Columbia is attributable largely to the industrial recovery enjoyed there, both mining and lumbering showing notable advances. A slight improvement in general conditions and the absorption of many men by harvesting operations explains the drop in the number of cost recipients in Alberta and Manitoba.

In May, 1932, the total number receiving direct relief aid in British Columbia was 64,262. In March, 1933, it reached the peak figure of 109,949, or nearly 16 per cent. of the total population. Six months later it dropped back to 80,885, but it jumped up to 105,680 in April of the present year. By the end of July it had fallen again to 88,100.

Saskatchewan's figure in May, 1932, was 158,738, but for some reason it fell to 40,000 in September of that year, and then jumped to 143,000 in March, 1933. Then came another drop to 40,000 in August of that year. The peak for that province was reached in February this year, the total then being 236,338, or 25 per cent. of the population.

Work For The Empire

Co-operation Would Lead The World To Peace And Stability

Vancouver.—A British commonwealth, solving its own problems through cooperation and leading the world to peace and economic stability, was pictured at Vancouver Canadian Club luncheon in an address by Baron Thomas James Cheshyrie Tomlin, member of the privy council.

"Is it too much to hope that this spirit of helpfulness and co-operation will spring up in the empire and flourish as a flower in a field of stubble?" he asked. "Through it we may attain the highest measure of common good and teach the world our problem. Let us make our future as glorious as our past."

Lord Tomlin thought the world was suffering from chronic indignation from over-production and too hasty consumption of new inventions. He reminded his audience he knew something about inventions for he had been chairman of the royal commission on awards to inventors.

Lord Tomlin paid a tribute to the United Empire Loyalists and expressed the hope that their spirit of co-operation would live in Canada to assist the Dominion in working out its problems.

U.S. Builds New Ships

Twenty-Four Fighting Ships Are On The Program

Washington.—The United States navy department have let contracts for the construction of 24 fighting vessels. Eleven of the ships will be built by private shipbuilding firms and 13 by navy yards. Estimated cost of the ships was not made public.

The ships contracted for will include two 10,000-ton six-inch gun cruisers, two 1,850-ton destroyer leaders, four 1,500-ton destroyers and three submarines of around 1,300 tons each to be constructed by private shipbuilders. Navy yards will build two 10,000-ton cruisers, one with eight and the other with six-inch guns. These yards also will construct four undersea craft and seven light destroyers.

Huge Indian Dam Opened

Madras, India.—The gigantic Melur dam, which is to fertilize 1,000,000 acres of land, was opened by Governor Sir George Stanley. With a cubic content of 54,000,000 feet the dam embodies the largest single block of masonry in the world, and also contains a "waterfall" of 95 feet over a width of 630 feet.

Ransom Payment Illegal

Claimed It Is Contrary To Law To Pay Kidnap Ransom Money

Toronto.—Payment of kidnap ransom or blackmail demands is illegal in Canada, Attorney-General Arthur W. Roebuck said here. Though the criminal code does not cover payment of ransom specifically, a clause making it an indictable offence to "willfully obstruct, pervert or defeat the course of justice" may apply, he said.

Stating that in the absence of alteration by Canadian legislation the English common law applies in Canada, the attorney-general quoted two English legal authorities to show the payment of moneys in such a case is regarded in England as "aiding and abetting" a crime.

"So long as the people of Canada are prepared to pay blackmail we are not likely to get rid of the racketeer," he added.

Years Of Isolation

Russian Colonists Were Ice-Bound For Five Years

Moscow.—Forty-four Russian colonists, ice-bound for five years on lonely Wrangel island in northern Siberian waters, were reached by a group of Soviet scientists on the ice-breaker Krasin, according to word reaching here.

Their lonely years of isolation were supposed to have ended last year, when the Chelmsford sailed for Wrangel island. But that expedition sank, while its 102 passengers were rescued by aeroplane after months on an ice floe north of the Behring Straits.

Wireless messages reaching here described the uncontrollable enthusiasm with which the colonists greeted the relief party.

Post Office Efficiency

Letter With Only Street Name Delivered Safely

Calgary.—"Third Avenue, West, Canada," the address placed on a letter mailed in London, England, some time ago and it has reached its correct destination. The envelope also bore the name of the addressee.

It landed from the Old Country at Montreal where postal officials at the letter mailed in London, England, Verdon, Lachine and Ville Ste. Pierre, respectively reported the letter was not for them so it was sent on to Ottawa.

A postal official at Ottawa knew of the numerical system of street naming in Calgary and so the mislabeled letter was sent here where the name and address "clicked."

MAY PUT BAN ON PUBLICATION OF WHEAT REPORT

London.—Chances of publication of the 1,500-word document dealing with the world wheat problem, which will be submitted to the 21 interested governments, appeared slim on the eve of the final session of the international wheat conference.

While a high authority said the conference will be urged to publish the document, an overwhelming opposition to the proposal was uncovered by a canvass of the various delegations.

Argentine and Russian delegates strongly favor revealing the contents of the closely guarded document, but Canada, United States and Australian delegations are opposed, and most of the Europeans present favor the latter group.

Knowledge that influential interests in England, the United States and other countries, which bitterly oppose further government control, would bring strong pressure to bear if the present proposals were published was given as the chief reason for secrecy. Conference sessions here have been behind closed doors. The document which will go to the governments, it was learned, however, contains proposals for a flexible quarterly export quota agreement as well as for continuation of the annual quota method used during the crop year ended July 31, 1934.

The quotas would be allotted from an estimated world demand of 600,000,000 bushels upward of 60,000,000 would be held "in reserve" for distribution during the year if changed conditions warrant such action.

It was understood, too, the document contains proposals for continued reduction in acreage and for extension of the world wheat pact beyond its expiration date, Aug. 1, 1935.

WILL CONSIDER FIVE CHANGES IN WHEAT PACT

London.—Five important amendments to the London wheat agreement of 1933 will be considered by the world wheat advisory commission when it meets again in Budapest, Hungary, on November 20.

The conference adjourned its London meeting until that date, having failed for the time being at least in its two main objectives—settling new international export quotas for the current crop year, and getting agreement on further acreage reduction.

The proposed amendments, which in the interval will be submitted to the 21 countries signatory to the wheat pact for their consideration, make radical changes in the export quota system which ruled during the last crop year ending July 31.

The amendments embody three changes:

- (1) Proposed extension of the world wheat agreement from July 31, 1935, to July 31, 1937.
- (2) Provision for continuance of efforts to adjust wheat production to demand, and to adjust distribution of surplus stocks.
- (3) Establish principles on which the quotas for principal exporters are to be adjusted from time to time.

(4) Subdivision of the crop year quotas into quarterly periods.

(5) Creation of a system of quota reserves designed to meet contingencies, such as a bumper crop in any one season.

In view of the proposed changes in the agreement, the world conference concluded its August sessions without any attempt to fix quotas for the present crop year.

"The estimated world import demand remains at 600,000,000 bushels, according to the conference, but how this is to be allocated among the exporting countries remains for the Budapest meeting to decide.

The world conference goes to Budapest at the invitation of the royal Hungarian government. Hungary is one of the principal nations in the Danubian exporting block.

Representatives of the big four exporters—Canada, Australia, the United States and the Argentine—are expected to confer among themselves before November in an effort to decide export quota allotments.

Thereafter quotas for lesser exporters, such as Russia and the Danubian countries, would be fixed.

Selling Wheat Holdings

Statistics Show Amount Held In Storage Is Dropping

Ottawa.—Canada is selling its big wheat holdings, it is shown by the Dominion bureau of statistics. In the week ending August 17, internal wheat holdings dropped from 187,231,597 bushels to 185,123,667, a reduction of 2,107,930. At the same time Canadian wheat in American elevators amounted to 10,386,124 bushels, compared to 5,262,942 last year.

United States wheat in Canada was placed at the negligible figure of two bushels, compared with 3,700,660 bushels last year.

In transit, wheat on the lakes amounted to 3,661,531 bushels, compared with 4,098,415 bushels for the previous week and 3,239,639 bushels for the corresponding week in 1933.

The major awards are valued at $5,000 and the Canadian boys winning were J. Ross Frazer, 20, of Vancouver (1909 Trafalgar street), and Harold Rasmussen, 15, of Regina (2251 Winnipeg street).

Six other scholarships awarded for miniature coaches of superb workmanship to Canadians included: Lawrence Drebe, Edmonton, $1,000, the senior, and Vernon M. Parish, Medicine Hat, Alta., $500, senior.

BLAIRMORE AND CHICAGO

The Coleman Journal hands its sister town of Blairmore a nice bouquet, which is the way we like to see a newspaper do. It calls attention to Blairmore's wide thoroughfare dignified with the name of Victoria street, presumably in honor of the late Queen Victoria. Now it appears a plan of street sprinkling is to be inaugurated on the "main drag", in order to abate the dust nuisance, and Editor Halliwell can foresee the storekeepers and others rising up and calling the council blessed.

We admit it is a far cry from Blairmore to Chicago, yet having been in both places we notice several points in common. Blairmore's main street always reminds us of Michigan Boulevard. Only one side of the Chicago street is lined with business blocks and facing the lake; in Blairmore only one side of the street is lined with business blocks, and these face the railway. Chicago is known as the "windy city"; Blairmore, the "city of zephyrs." In Chicago they won't let you stand too long on one corner, and in Blairmore also there are the warning signs admonishing you not to tarry. So while there is a vast expanse of mountain and prairie and hill and dale between the two burgas, yet in some ways they are as alike as twin sisters. In population Chicago outdistances Blairmore, but combining the two with their environs they exceed the three million mark.—Cranbrook Courier.

A BLACKSMITH'S WILL

A blacksmith with a cardiac humor drafted his will in the following manner:

I leave my equity in the business, and my car, to my son. He will have to go to work to keep up the payments.

My good-will in the business I leave to the jobbers who sold me goods. They took some awful chances and are entitled to something.

My shop equipment and tools I bequeath to the junk man—he has had his eye on them for several years.

I want at least six local farmers to act as pallbearers. I have carried them so long that I feel it is their turn to carry me for a little.

I direct all funeral expenses to be paid from my shop. Ask my helpers to keep track of these expenses. I never could get them to keep track of the expenses of turning out a job.

As regards flowers—I got so few bouquets when I was alive that my fellow blacksmiths need not bother when I am dead. Bury the coal shovel at my right hand; I may need it.

TOURISTS SEE CHURCHILL

Churchill, Manitoba, August 27.—This new seaport a few days ago gave joyous welcome to 185 vacationists who arrived here aboard the second annual Canadian National excursion train from the south.

The tourists were in a happy mood long before they arrived. Ideal weather prevailed on the northward run through the woodlands and, at 9 a.m. Monday, the string of 13 special coaches rolled into port.

Noisy welcome came from the deep-lunged whistles of ships in port. Three hundred flags flew from the deep sea vessels especially dressed for the occasion and, above them all, the Union Jack floated lazily from the high towers of Churchill terminal elevator. The crowd quickly moved towards the quayside, pausing enroute to read the inscription upon a monument raised in memory of "Those who were killed and died in Churchill", and set sail aboard the SS Ocean Eagle for a short cruise in the harbor and bay waters.

The ship swung out into the Churchill river, and gave the visitors an opportunity of seeing deep water steamers loading for distant ports. They saw the SS Nascopie, preparing for a long cruise in the Arctic and, next in line, the SS Dalworth taking on Saskatchewan flour for London.

Beyond they saw the SS Thomas Walton, ready to set sail with grain for overseas markets. They ran more, where a reception was held in the Greenhill Grill. The good wishes of their many friends go with Mr. and Mrs. Hutton.

Must Be A Habit

Magistrates Free Man Because Change Carried In Left Pocket

In which trouser pocket does a man carry his change? The question arose in a recent case in a Rhyl, Wales, court. A man accused of stealing a shaving brush from a drug store said he placed it in his right hand while he put his left hand in his pocket for the money. The druggist then showed him a dealer's brush, which he bought. Near home he found he still had the cheaper brush in right hand and before he could return it the police came. After his testimony the magistrates placed their hands in their trouser pockets. Their money was in their left-hand pockets, and they freed the man.

A Viking's End

C.P.R. Steamship On Pacific Coast To Be Broken Up

An old queen of the coast-seas of British Columbia, with the memories of many mariners upon her decks, has been given a viking's end recently.

The Canadian Pacific Steamships S.S. Princess Royal, already stripped of the fittings that made her a passenger liner, was given a bath of oil and the torch put to her. She blazed to a fitting finish as she lay broadside to the beach between Esquimalt lagoon and Albert Head. What is left of her will be broken into scrap and shipped to Japan.

The Princess Royal was built at Esquimalt in 1907, registered 981 tons, and was 225 feet long.

Wheat Graded To The Best Marketing Advantage

Among the eight bills affecting agriculture which became law during the 1934 session of the Dominion parliament was an act to amend the Canada Grain Act. The changes in this act place the statutory grades of No. 2 Manitoba Northern wheat on the same basis as No. 1 Northern Hard and No. 1 Manitoba Northern in so far as milling quality is concerned, and also empowers the Western-Standard Committee to deal with the different varieties of grain which may be developed from time to time, so that they may be graded to the best marketing advantage without interfering with the quality of the main Canadian standard grades.

Little Journeys In Science

INSECTICIDES
(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Insecticides are classified into poison sprays or stomach poisons, and contact poisons. The former cause death when taken internally, while the latter bring about destruction of life by mere contact. Pyrethrum belongs to the contact class of insecticides. Aromatic compounds are usually found in poison sprays. Flately divided lead arsenate suspended in water is used extensively and is very effective. Calcium arsenate is much cheaper and more abundant than lead arsenate. It is used to wage war against the bollworm, which is very destructive to the cotton plant. It is also used to destroy the potato beetle. Aeroplanes are employed to drop the calcium arsenate in the form of a fine dust upon the cotton plant.

On emulsions, produced by the addition of fish-oil soaps to oil, are used to a considerable extent. Nicotine, a complex compound found in tobacco, is rapid and effective in the destruction of insects. Lime-sulphur spray is used against scale insects. This is prepared in concentrated form by boiling together water, sulphur, and slaked lime. Frusic acid is used as a fumigant in greenhouses and on nursery stock. It is an extremely poisonous substance.

Many of the poison gases used in the late war have been tested to discover if they might be used in the warfare against insects. One of these, chloropicrin, is the most promising. Only a few of the more important insecticides have been mentioned. Science is continually developing new destructive agents and more efficient ways of applying them in this everlasting struggle of mankind against insects and fungi.

That crows have a forerunning of disaster was shown recently in Ogmore Vale, Wales. For 90 years crows have built their nests in the branches of a lofty oak 200 years old. Without warning they all moved to another tree. A week later their homes tottered in a breeze and fell. After the crash the crows cawed triumphantly.

"JACK MINER AND RELIGION"

By REV. W. E. McKILLOP, D.D.

Jack Miner, the Canadian naturalist, lecturer and author, was recently asked to what were his religious beliefs. The bird lover, who is a fervent and then quietly replied very emphatically:

"I believe in any religion that is for the betterment and uplift of humanity. I belong to the Methodist Church, which is now part of the United Church. I suppose the principal reason for this is, when I was but 24 years of age, I was married, my wife belonging to that church. As I belonged to no church then, I felt it my duty to go with her. I firmly believe there were no happier lives and happy homes if husbands and wives attended the same service. So I went to the greatest Roman Catholic or Protestant."

Well, you may believe in any religions that are uplifting and for the betterment of humanity, and yet you belong to the United Church. "I believe," replied Jack Miner, "every man should belong to some church which gives him one central place of worship and which will cause him to take a more active part in Christianity than he would if he drifted from one church to another. "When you have been away from home every Sunday, I have seen you making your way to various services in different churches, from early Roman Catholic mass to the Jewish synagogue. Why do you drift around like this?" asked the reporter.

"Well," said Jack Miner, "it's an education and keeps a man from becoming too narrow-minded and broadens his spiritual side of life. I always make it a point to try to be home with my family for Sunday

No Camping In Church

St. Paul's Cathedral Puts Ban On Picnics In Pews

Persons wishing to go on picnics will, in future, have to look for camping spots other than the pews of St. Paul's Cathedral, according to an edict issued by church authorities.

We have in the past been turning a "blind eye" to many abuses," a cathedral vergor declared. "The other day I found a man in a pew reading a newspaper and smoking a pipe, and when I remonstrated at such action in a house of worship he replied that he had only come in to get out of the rain."

By action of the chapter, however, use of the cathedral for anything but devotions will be prohibited in the future.

A giant tower, 6,000 feet high, six times as high as Eiffel Tower, has been proposed as a means of defending Paris, France, against aerial attacks. It would be built of reinforced concrete. Platforms would be provided at various elevations for the launching of aeroplanes and as bases for anti-aircraft artillery.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SEPTEMBER 2

Golden text: "He hath showed us O Lord, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with thy God?" Micah 6:8.

Lesson: Micah, chapters 2-4 and 6:1-7.

Devotional reading: James 1:22-27.

Explanations And Comments

A Dramatic Scene: God Presents His Indictment of the Faithless People, verses 1-5. The prophet Micah, in a burst of oratorical passion, declares that God will contend, or plead the figure that of a compendium in court, with the people before the mountains, as judges. "Hear, O ye mountains, and ye enduring foundations of the earth," the prophet cries; "for Jehovah hath a controversy with his people, and he will contend with them, and the mountains are spoken of as 'enduring,' for they have outlived many generations of peoples."

Jehovah now speaks. He is the plaintiff; the prophet is his attorney; Israel is the defendant; the mountains are the witnesses. "O my people," Jehovah exclaims through his attorney, "what have I done unto thee? and wherefore hast thou wearied thyself against me?"—"I wearied thee for thy disobedience. No answer comes, for the only answer that could be made is that the fault lies in the people, not in Jehovah."

The Divine Command of True Religion, verse 8. To all of this, verses 6 and 7, Micah replies with what is the greatest saying in the Old Testament, "What doth the Lord require of thee?" With this definition of religion may be compared the last verse of our text from Amos two verses ago: "Let justice roll down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream;" last week's Golden Rule, which defines genuine goodness; not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt-offerings; and verses twelve and thirteen of Deuteronomy 10: "And now, Israel, what doth Jehovah thy God require of thee, but to hear Jehovah thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve Jehovah thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, to keep the commandments of Jehovah and his statutes?"

For the first six months of 1934, Canada exported to the London (England) market the following canned fruits: 71,722 cases of pears; 14,385 cases of loganberries; 2,882 cases of peaches, and 40,964 cases of canned apples.

A trial shipment of Ontario apples in coppers made in 1933 to Egypt has been well received. It consisted of Ganos, Baldwin, and Ben Davis, mentioned in order of preference. The Ganos in particular, says the Canadian Trade Commissioner in Egypt, should be able to find an outlet in Egypt, as to meet the demand for red apples.

The meat from which soup has been made becomes rather tasteless, but it still contains most of its nourishment. Therefore, it may be used in hash, meat pies and ragouts, where the flavour of vegetables and seasoning compensates for the lack of meat flavour.—Beef? The Japanese wheat crop of this year is estimated at 44,601,150 bushels. It is considered that the annual consumption of wheat is about 45,000,000 bushels, so that the five-year plan instituted two years ago by the Japanese government to grow sufficient wheat for domestic purposes seems to be almost attained in the second year of the attempt.

Glacier Park Bears Enjoy Everything But Spinach

Glacier Park bears eat anything that comes in cans—anything except spinach—according to Dr. George R. Rulhe, chief naturalist.

Detective Found An Medicament Collected $40 In Six Days

A Scotland Yard detective disguised himself as an ex-seller selling medicines, when he was in search of a "wanted" man. In this disguise he stood on a prominent London sidewalk for six days and eventually secured his man. He also received nearly $40 from kind-hearted passers-by. Most of the contributors merely passed him a copper or two without bothering to take his matches.

Authorities of Scotland Yard have ordered the money to be paid into police funds.

OCCASIONAL WIFE

By DONNA ROBE WEBSTER
Author of "Joretta," "Lipstick Girl" etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a commission as a scholar abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of finding an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. After a party at an exclusive club when the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the party, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Camilla urges Peter to accept some of her earnings to help him along, but Peter refuses and they quarrel. After Camilla has gone from the studio, Avis Werth calls and persuades Peter to accept a loan of $1,000. Peter finishes his exhibit and asks Avis to be his exhibit and she agrees to do so. Camilla suggests "Rager Youth" and Avis "Inspiration". Peter adopts the latter title and Camilla, heartbroken, goes to Peter's studio for quiet and to think. Peter and Avis follow later, and as the lights are turned on, see the statue has been shattered to pieces. Camilla accuses Camilla of doing this, and Camilla, stunned by the disaster, and hurt and horrified by the accusation, faints.

At Camilla's suggestion, Peter enters as his exhibit a statue he has sculptured especially for her as a wedding gift. They named it "Land of Hope".

Camilla's advertising campaign and Tiny Todd broadcast was a great success, and Mr. Hoyt expressed his pleasure and surprise on learning that Camilla was the author and artist who was so ably stimulating business for his company.

Peter's exhibit was awarded the Paris scholarship, and he prepares for his journey to France. After the ship's departure from New York, he is on his way to his cabin when he meets Avis Werth.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XVIII

It was in such a mood, when Peter had been exceptionally gentle and solicitous during the evening, that Avis ventured upon a long-drawn-out subject while they smoked and talked in a secluded corner of the deck together. He had not mentioned Camilla's name in her presence that day, and she risked the remark are in love with some man who doesn't reciprocate?"

She nodded silently her head resting against the back of the chair and her half-open eyes watching him covertly.

"I'd say he was all kinds of a sap not to wake up and find himself," Peter declared forcefully, then sighed deeply. "Gosh, this love business is a wild, untamed thing, anyway. Why do people select their life partners by impulse and emotion instead of by practical reasoning as we venture into any other kind of business?"

"Because there is no getting away from love, I guess," pensively.

"Well, what is it, then? How do we recognize it when we do find it? Why isn't it complete for us?"

"Why, Peter, you talk as if you never had been in love!"

"Why?" tersely.

"Because you would know the answers to all those questions."

Blissed then "Well, I don't." He could not escape from that strangling sensation which Avis' revelation about Camilla had given him. The thought that she, his precious Camilla, would so betray and humiliate him for the very climax of his emotional efforts tortured him like the closing of a garrote around his neck.

He might have doubted her guilt, had Avis not told him so simply and as if unaware that she was betraying the other's confidence in her. No, it was true enough; but the more he revolved the thing in his mind, the more confused and hurt and angry he became.

He brooded in silence for awhile, into which Avis did not intrude. Finally, he arose impatiently as if the inertia of sitting quietly was no longer to be endured. "Should you like to go in?" he asked tensely.

"I'm not much of a companion this evening. This thing has got me about Camilla. I hope you understand that I'm not."

"Of course," she interrupted kindly. "I'm only so sorry that I mentioned it, Peter."

"I'm glad—mighty glad to know it," he contradicted. "More than anything else, I hate deceit. It helps a lot to know just how things stand."

"Well, don't you do anything rash—like jumping overboard."

"Not on your life. I think I have discovered one more thing tonight—that love isn't worth all the suffering we take with it."

Peter declared, "Peter, dear don't be cynical, Avis pleaded."

"I'm not. Only being sensible." She laughed softly. "You are much too romantic to fencible loves. Get a hold of yourself, please. Good night, Peter."

He smiled down at her with a new tenderness. "Good night, little pal."

She carried away with her the light in his eyes, hugging it to her heart; remembered the vehemence of his renunciation of love. That would do for a beginning, she exulted. If she could take him along that far toward her goal within four days, what might she not accomplish in a year? By that time, she could make him wonder what he ever saw that was attractive about Camilla. She would make herself indispensable to his life.

Camilla resolutely followed the routine of her days and thanked the benevolence of blessed, fatiguing, mind-occupying work. If two days could be so interminable and wretched as this, how was she going to endure the year ahead of her? She tried to convince herself that as time passed, she would become accustomed to Peter's absence and would be happier. But she did not want time and absence to dull her need of Peter. If so, what then? She would have nothing left. Nothing for which to live and hope and work. Life then would be just a monotonous existence, without aim or reason or pleasure.

And what if Peter, immersed in his work, involved in his new life, discovered that his longing for her was dulled? Protest beat with broken wings within her breast.

Resolutely, she put her thoughts aside and summoned her will to concentrate upon the fictional lives of her characters. She was working at the office, but somehow she could prevent her thoughts of Peter entering.

Her secretary announced a gentleman to see her. "He said it was urgent, but would not give his name," Miss Scott explained.

Camilla frowned with annoyance. "Probably another high-class beggar who got in with his air of importance. This radio publicity makes me a good target for such people. I'll see him for a minute."

Eloquent Plea Of Indian

Magistrate Dismisses Case Of Breach Of Game Laws

"Canada is our country: God gave us mouths to eat and put game in the country for us to live on. It is the only way we have of getting a living. You white men have an education and a job to live by, but we have no other way," John O'Case, Chippewa Indian chief, explained to Magistrate R. E. Thurber at Edson, Alta., when charged with illegal possession of big game carcasses. The magistrate dismissed the case.

Evidence disclosed that in July a party of 40 Chippewa Indians moved from the Rocky Mountain House district to Marbrough and began to kill moose and deer. Alarmed test game should be exterminated through a general slaughter, citizens complained.

The magistrate, in announcing his decision, said that unless he had instructions from the attorney-general's department he could not see his way clear to convict the full-blooded, non-treaty Indians who do not live on reserves, as long as they were not making a wholesale slaughter.

He took the stand that the Indians knew of no other way of making a living and unless the government was prepared to look after them, he was not prepared to register a conviction.

A sister of the accused chief, who asked if she could address the court after evidence was taken, and who received permission to do so, described eloquently the experiences of her tribe and how loyal they had been to the white people in times of trouble.

She claimed on one occasion when the Prince of Wales was visiting in their district His Royal Highness had told them that they could hunt for a living. Her address lasted 45 minutes, during which she made a stirring plea for her brother, pointing out that they had a mother 105 years old to take care of.

On dismissing the case, the magistrate warned the chief that he must endeavor to obey the laws of the land as far as possible. Chief O'Case agreed readily and shook hands with the magistrate.

Proud Of Its Record

Tree In Nova Scotia 170 Years Old Still Bearing Apples

George R. Whiteman believes he has on his farm at Lawrenceton, Nova Scotia, the oldest apple-bearing tree in the Annapolis valley. It is 170 years old and in its life-time has produced 600 barrels of excellent fruit.

The seed for the leafy giant came up with the Whiteman family from New England in 1762. It was planted by Mr. Whiteman's great-grandfather. Long years ago the seedling tree was grafted with the Nonpareil variety.

Some seasons it produced 12 barrels of marketable apples and while orchardists of Canada's great orchard country were bemoaning the fact that the last severe winter affected many of their trees, Mr. Whiteman's "old faithful" blossomed forth lovelier than ever.

It is larger than the London, Amsterdam or Antwerp zoos and contains 2,000 animals, including specimens from every part of the globe.

Ancient Doll Goes Modern

Prized Possession Of Ontario Child Is 134 Years Old

Prized possession of a little Kitchener, Ontario, girl is a wooden doll said to be 134 years old, handed down by her great-great-grandmother, in Germany from generation to generation.

Brought to Canada in a wooden chest whose date of manufacture was indicated as 1800, the doll is believed to have been made the same year. The body is wood, with hinges fastened with screw nails for joints.

The head, made of a substance resembling plaster of paris, is solid and fastened to the body with screws. Mute witness to the triumphs of Napoleonic hosts, to the rise and fall of monarchs and empires, the doll by no means preserves the fashions of the dying years of the 18th century.

Until the present owner obtained the doll from her mother, who in turn received it from her mother, "Fraulein Gretchen" wore a crown of straw with a bustle and an old-fashioned bonnet to match. Now, however, she flaunts the acme of twentieth century modishness.

TWO BIRDS

Two birds, flying wing to wing High above the plain, Saw through sunset's blossoming Into night's domain.

Vast, pursuing shadows rise From earth's darkening face; Swiftly, through the fading skies Into dusk's embrace.

Two birds, heedless of the voice Of the wind of night, Flying wing to wing rejoice In their silent flight.

Though they lose the sun's last spark And no comarades sing, Unafraid, they face the dark, Two birds, wing to wing.

Inventor Of Photography

Process Of Henry Fox Talbot Dates From 1835

Among inventors who have revolutionized life, Henry Fox Talbot of Lacock, England, is less well remembered than he should be, although, by means of patents, he took peculiar pains to establish the priority of his inventions over those of Daguerre. His century thus has particular interest. His earliest result dates from 1835, but he did not begin to "develop" until 1840. Progress continued to be slow and it is uncommon to come across photographs of more than experimental interest until Roger Fenton took a camera out to the Crimea in 1855.

The apricot is supposed to be a native of China and was brought in to Europe at the time of Alexander the Great.

Little Helps For This Week

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed." 2 Timothy 2:15. "And let us not be weary in well-doing: for in due season we shall reap if we faint not." Galatians 6:9.

The task Thy wisdom has assigned, Oh, let me cheerfully fulfill; In all my works Thy presence find, And prove Thine acceptable will.

—C. Wesley.

What is my next duty? What is the thing that lies nearest to me? That belongs to your every-day history. No one can answer that question but yourself. Your next duty is to determine just what your next duty is. There may be something you will soon lead you to something more. You ought to do. You would know your duty if you thought in earnest about it and were not ambitious of great things. If it is something commonplace that will make life dreary it will soon lead you to something more. Your duty will commence to comfort you at once, and will at length open the unknown fountain of life in your heart.—G. MacDonald.
